Since its inception in the 1979, Applefest has drawn thousands of people to downtown New Boston and surrounding communities. This annual event was originated to celebrate local apple orchards and it is truly one of the best festivals in Southeast Michigan.

This event is a community-based family event which is free to the public. Specially selected vendors are chosen to sell handmade arts, crafts, products, food, and permits commercial booths as well. This year's event will include character actors for children to meet and greet, two carnival game tents for children, inflatable bounce rides, miniature golf course, multiple music acts, performances from local schools and dance companies.
